Re: Draft Intelligence Community Legislative
Program for First Session of the 101st
Congress

Dear [Redacted]

STAT

In response to your July 26, 1988 request, please be advised that this Department has no specific, independent proposals for inclusion in the Intelligence Community Legislative Program for the First Session of the 101st Congress. However, there are at least two initiatives that may be proposed by other agencies. We understand that the National Security Agency may propose amendments to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act and that the Federal Bureau of Investigation may propose legislation authorizing counterintelligence access to Internal Revenue Service records. The Office of Intelligence Policy here at the Justice Department would have a substantial interest in the development and pursuit of such provisions.

Sincerely,

Thomas M. Boyd
Acting Assistant Attorney General
